

Mike Ruff & Zoë Jasko

Zoë & Mike have joined forces to produce a whole new sound and offer a wonderful range of vintage songs from the era of the Second World War and shows from the 1940s and 1950s.

Zoë's captivating soprano voice combines brilliantly with Mike's accordion and his own singing and they offer a whole range of songs that you will know and love from White Cliffs of Dover and A Nightingale, sang in Berkeley Square, to You are my Sunshine and It's a Long Way to Tipperary, as well as a glimpse of the French Style with La Vie on Rose and Je Ne Regrette Rien.

A chance meeting at an Endless Bookcase Authors' Group lunch – they are both published authors – and a chance discussion about Zoë's most recent book set in WW2, Hope is Daffodil Bright, led to the collaboration. Their first appearance at Zoë's book launch has been followed by a very successful care home concert and a fundraising garden party for the UNICEF Ukraine appeal.

Mike is a hugely experienced folk musician and dance teacher with a fund of folk and Music Hall songs. He also appears locally with St Albans Morris and St Albans Mummers.

Zoë is a trained singer, and co-founder and creative director of Hertfordshire based Felici Opera.
